BODIE: Good Times and Bad

ISBN: 9781941384268, Retail: $22.95

Author: Nicholas Clapp

Photographer: Will Furman

Publisher: Sunbelt Publications

Pub Date: 02/17, Format: SC

Experience the history of Bodie State Historic Park, just east of Yosemite National Park. Author Nicholas Clapp and photographer Will Furman portray Bodie in both vivid words and stunning photography - a town that had two sides, aptly described in a 1870's account...

On the eve of her family's departure for booming Bodie, a little girl was said to have gathered her dolls, that they might join her as she knelt by her bed, her prayer concluding with a somber... "Goodbye, God; we are going to Bodie!" Word was that the camp was hard-bitten, desperado-ridden.

Getting wind of the girl's farewell to the Almighty, The Weekly Bodie Standard reported that, oh no, that wasn't what she had mind. Not. At. All. Someone had gotten the punctuation wrong. What she surely said was... "Good, by God, we are going to Bodie!"

There were, in fact, two Bodies. On one hand, it was "a fearfully and wonderfully bad place" stalked by shootist in black swallow-tailed coats. On the other hand, it was a town of hard-working pioneers who dressed their little girls in starched white frocks and met adversity with charity and good cheer. As he passed through, Mark Twain mused that in Bodie virtue versus vice made for exciting times, and he'd have it no other way. He was to add, "It was a plain wonder how man carried on under such circumstances."

THE WOODEN BELLS OF MISSION SAN BUENAVENTURA

ISBN: 9781532327605, Retail: $18.95

Author: Max Kurillo

Publisher: M&E Books

Pub Date: 2016, Format: SC

While the intrigue and romance of bells have, for centuries, captured the imagination of people from all walks of life, the bells found in the museum of the mission in Ventura are so unique and so mysterious as to almost defy reason. Since early in the 1900s they have quietly resided there, inspiring awe and wonder in those who viewed them. For these bells are like no others, they are beautifully, masterfully hand carved from wood. With no recorded history to inform us, no memories among the living to guide us, no apparent logical reason for their being, they seem to be waiting for someone to uncover their secret...

CALIFORNIA'S EL CAMINO REAL AND IT'S HISTORIC BELLS

ISBN: 9781532318948, Retail: 22.95

Author: Max Kurillo

Publisher: M&E Books

Pub Date: 11/16, Format: SC

California's El Camino Real and Its Historic Bells is the first book to trace the history, development and preservation of this historic West Coast transportation corridor.

The "King's Highway" would eventually extend almost 2,000 miles north to a final destination in Sonoma, Alta California, and remained that region's main artery. Foot traffic and pack trains of heavily-laden mules dominated activity in the early days, followed bicyclist then the roar of automobiles. Yet despite its importance, the memory of this early road was almost lost.

Fortunately, a number of men and women's clubs, state and county governments and Caltrans came to its rescue. This book chronicles the determined efforts to renew El Camino Real and the familiar roadside bell markers, unique and enduring symbols of California's cultural heritage. With over 40 maps, and 70 illustrations, that focuses on documenting, and conserving the natural and historical heritage of this unique historical road.

VIRGINIA CITY: To Dance with the Devil

ISBN: 9781941384152, Retail: $25.95

Author: Nicholas Clapp
 Publisher: Sunbelt Publications
 Pub Date: 11/15, Format: SC

Where else but in Virginia City could a penniless Irish miner in a few short years amass a fortune greater than any of America’s robber barons, simply by dint of hard work and intuition, and remain a humble, caring human being? Here as well Mark Twain discovered and honed his comic voice, and notorious badman Sam Brown was lined with lead, with a coroner’s jury concluding, “It served him right.” Here also Julia Bulette, a kindly harlot beloved of the city’s firemen, was the toast of a rowdy Fourth of July parade. In Virginia City mines, men plunged into the scalding, hazardous heart of the earth, tantamount to partnering with hell’s dread demon, so that they could enjoy five Shakespeare companies performing at once, food rivaling Delmonico’s in New York, and frocks ordered directly from Paris that could be worn in this barren, windswept middle of nowhere. Virginia City’s twenty turbulent bonanza years—what a time it was!

GOLD AND SILVER IN THE MOJAVE: Images of a Last Frontier

ISBN: 9780932653062, Retail: $24.95

Author: Nicholas Clapp
 Publisher: Sunbelt Publications
 Pub Date: 11/12, Format: SC

In the 1890s, historian Frederick Jackson Turner lamented that the frontier was gone and with it the Old West, but overlooked was some 50,000 square miles of a frontier line outlining the Mojave Desert – the Last Frontier. In this arid land, unsettled and sketchily mapped – written off as godforsaken and worse – there would now be a headlong 25-year rush for riches...and for the Old West – a grand, tumultuous, rowdy Last Act. Overnight towns named Randsburg, Tonopah, Goldfield, Rhyolite, Greenwater, Skidoo, Ballarat, and Bagdad popped up in this arid desert as gold and silver was discovered. The rush was on as miners worked their various digs: the Yellow Aster, the Lost Gunsight, Mizpah, Belmont, Mohawk, Florence, the Lost Breyfogle, Bullfrog, Bagdad, and the Glory Hole. Just as quickly ghost towns replaced booming towns as mines played out. All of this is captured in rare photographs of the day assembled with interpretive text by cinematographer and author Nicholas Clapp.
