

THE JUDY PARIS COLLECTION FOR KIDS IN THE SOUTHWEST:
Children's fiction ages 3-9

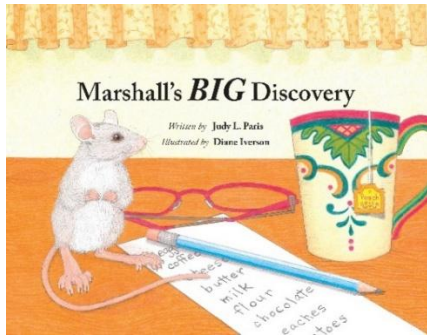

CONDOR CANYON COUNTDOWN

ISBN: 9781735067353, Retail: $18.95
Publisher: Paris Kids Publishing
Author: Judy L. Paris, Jocelyn L. Paris
Pub Date: 12/2025, Format: HC
Pages 36, 11.25 x 8.75, Ctn: 20-40

Set in the Southwest, along the breath-taking backdrop of the Grand Canyon and Vermilion Cliffs, the Condors demonstrate behaviors that make them unique and interesting creatures. The majestic California Condor is an endangered species and scientist, biologists and other experts are working tirelessly to conserve the species and protect them, releasing them into the wild once again. This amazing bird is the largest flying land bird in North America and deserves the praise and respect of citizens. This book intends to not only educate children, but the general public as many may have never heard about the condors or these special programs that desperately need support. The authors will donate a portion of proceeds to the Peregrine Fund to help in repopulating this species. Three pages of activities are included in the book with more content on the website for adults to continue this condor educational journey.

MARSHALL'S BIG DISCOVERY

ISBN: 9781735067315, Retail: $18.95
Publisher: Paris Kids Publishing
Author: Judy L. Paris, Illustrator: Diane Iverson
Pub Date: 10/2023, Format: HC
Pages 32, 11.5 x 9, Ctn: 24

Set in the mountains of the West, Marshall Mouse is teased because he is different. But when his brother faces a problem, Marshall discovers he holds the secret to the solution. A story of misunderstanding, diversity, discovery, acceptance, and renewal.

See the Author's website for further free information and activities related to diversity. Parents, teachers, and adults working with children can continue to provide instruction and discussions, as well as participate in activities to carry on Marshall's key message. The last page of the book offers ideas as a guide to continue learning.

NOT FUNNY HARVEY!

ISBN: 9781735067339, Retail: $18.95

Publisher: Paris Kids Publishing

Author: Judy L. Paris, Illustrator: Nathanlie Aall

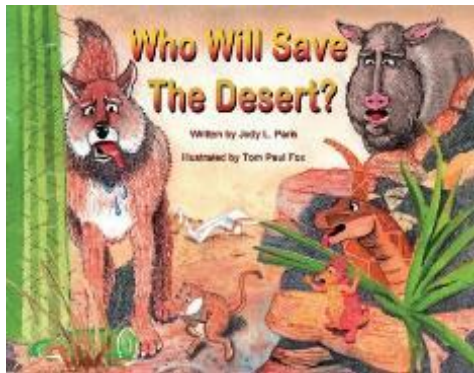

Pub Date: 7/15/4, Format: HC, Pages 32, 11.5 x 9, Ctn: 20

Set in the Southwest, Harvey Javelina, an impetuous peccary, is anxious to make new friends. He explores options to gain friends by using what he believes are clever pranks and jokes. He thinks these are the perfect way to gain friendships since some of his friends think he is hilarious. However, his attempts go a bit far in trying to be funny, and at times, may hurt another creature. The other critters prefer he stay away from them. His wise sister, Luella, tries very hard to help him understand the nuances of teasing, but her words go unheeded at first. One day, it all appears in front of him and Harvey remembers her valuable lesson.

Quote on back of book Not Funny Harvey: “An excellent story that introduces children to the impact jokes and pranks have on others. Fun and playfulness are important but we must consider how our actions leave others feeling.” Ken Morley, Police Lt

Important sales points: Authored by an Educator who taught individuals with a variety of special needs across all aspects of diverse populations for over 40 years at all grade levels birth-adult; Embedded lessons which apply to daily life and make connections between individuals; Created using interesting language patterns and a writing style intended to have fun with words; Printed using ecologically-friendly materials; Published by an independent family of educators, artists, and marketing professionals who strive to create the highest quality products.

WHO WILL SAVE THE DESERT? 2nd ed

English Hardcover

ISBN: 9781735067322, Retail: $18.95

SPANISH Softcover

Edition ISBN 9781735067346, Retail: $12.95

Publisher: Paris Kids Publishing

Author: Judy L. Paris, Illustrator: Tom Paul Fox

Pub Date: 10/2023, Format: HC

Pages 32, 11.5 x 9, Ctn: 24

Meet Santiago, the horned lizard and desert protector. Santiago is the grandest critter in the desert. He loves the pristine land and his friendly neighbors. When a mystery develops, he wonders what is happening. Trash is appearing and ruining his wonderful desert. How can the desert be saved and who will help him?

